DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to applicant's communication of March 2, 2007.

Amendments to claims 1 and 26 have been entered. Claims 1, 4-7 and 26 are currently pending and have been examined. The rejections and response to arguments are stated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 1, 4-7 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory Subject matter.

35 USC 101 requires that in order to be patentable the invention must be a "new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof" (emphasis added).

Claims 1, 4-7 and 26 are drawn to "computer-implemented method for order matching implemented over a network". As such the claimed invention is directed to a judicial exception to 35 U.S.C. 101 (i.e., an abstract idea, natural phenomenon, or law of nature) and is not directed to a practical application of such judicial exception because the claims do not require any physical transformation and the invention as claimed does not produce a useful, concrete, and tangible result. The last step of the claim recites "searching, with said at least one computer, for at least one match between said buy order and the one or more sell orders that are within said arbitrarily-shaped region in accordance with said one or more quality values". Searching for a match does not necessarily imply matching of orders. The last step does not ensure that the orders are matched and hence it is not clear as to what useful, concrete, and tangible result is produced by implementing the steps of the claim.

The Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit issued opinions in State Street Bank & Trust Co. v. Signature Financial Group Inc., 149 F. 3d 1368, 47 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1998) and AT&T Corp. v. Excel Communications, Inc., 172 F.3d 1352, 50 USPQ2d 1447 (Fed. Cir. 1999). These decisions explained that, to be eligible for patent protection, the claimed invention as a whole must accomplish a practical application. That is, it must produce a “useful, concrete and tangible result.” State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373-74, 47 USPQ2d at 1601 02. To satisfy section 101 requirements, the claim must be for a practical application of the § 101 judicial exception, which can be identified in various ways: (a) The claimed invention “transforms” an article or physical object to a different state or thing. (b) The claimed invention otherwise produces a useful, concrete and tangible result, based on the factors discussed below.

The USPTO’s official interpretation of the utility requirement provides that the utility of an invention has to be (i) specific, (ii) substantial and (iii) credible. See MPEP § 2107. The methods of this invention do not meet this requirement. It is not clear as to what is the utility of the claimed invention.

The tangible requirement does require that the claim must recite more than a § 101 judicial exception, in that the process claim must set forth a practical application of that § 101 judicial exception to produce a real-world result. Benson, 409 U.S. at 71-72, 175 USPQ at 676-77 (invention ineligible because had “no substantial practical application”). It is not clear as to what is the practical application of searching for a match as this does not necessarily imply matching of orders.

For an invention to produce a “concrete” result, the process must have a result that can be substantially repeatable or the process must substantially produce the same result again. In re Swartz, 232 F.3d 862, 864, 56 USPQ2d 1703, 1704 (Fed. Cir. 2000) (where asserted result produced by the claimed invention is “irreproducible” claim should be rejected under section 101). The opposite of “concrete” is unrepeatable or unpredictable. The steps of the method are not specific enough to guarantee that the method will substantially produce the same result again, for identical set of inputs.

There is no useful, concrete and tangible result produced from implementing the steps of the claimed invention. The dependent claims 4-7 are rejected for the same reason and by way of dependency on a rejected independent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1, 4-7 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 and 26 recite the limitation “filter specified by the user that defines the arbitrarily-shaped region within the at least four dimensions”. However it is not clear if the arbitrarily-shaped region within the at least four dimensions is actually defined by the filter, because the limitation of defining the arbitrarily-shaped region within the at least four dimensions is not positively recited. Hence the scope of these claims is not clear. Also the limitations “within said arbitrarily-shaped region” lack antecedent basis because the arbitrarily-shaped region has not been previously defined. Similarly it is not clear from the limitation “quality function that outputs one or more quality values”, if the one or more quality values are actually outputted. Hence the limitation “said one or more quality values” lacks antecedent basis. Because of these deficiencies, the scope of the claims is unclear. Claims 4-7 are rejected by dependency on a rejected independent claim. Appropriate clarification/correction is required.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to pending claims 1, 4-7 and 26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure are listed in the enclosed form PTO-892.

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
